

Let's talk about aged care in the home!

Join the Queensland team from the Department of Health and Aged Care for a discussion on Commonwealth funded aged care services that are designed to help older people live independently at home.

On the day the team will talk you through the range of aged care services available and the assessment process for accessing services.

The new Aged Care Act commences in July 2025, so come along and learn more about the changes in aged care. We look forward to sharing what quality aged care looks like now and into the future.
